

Joey's Day

at the City Walk

City of Hickory

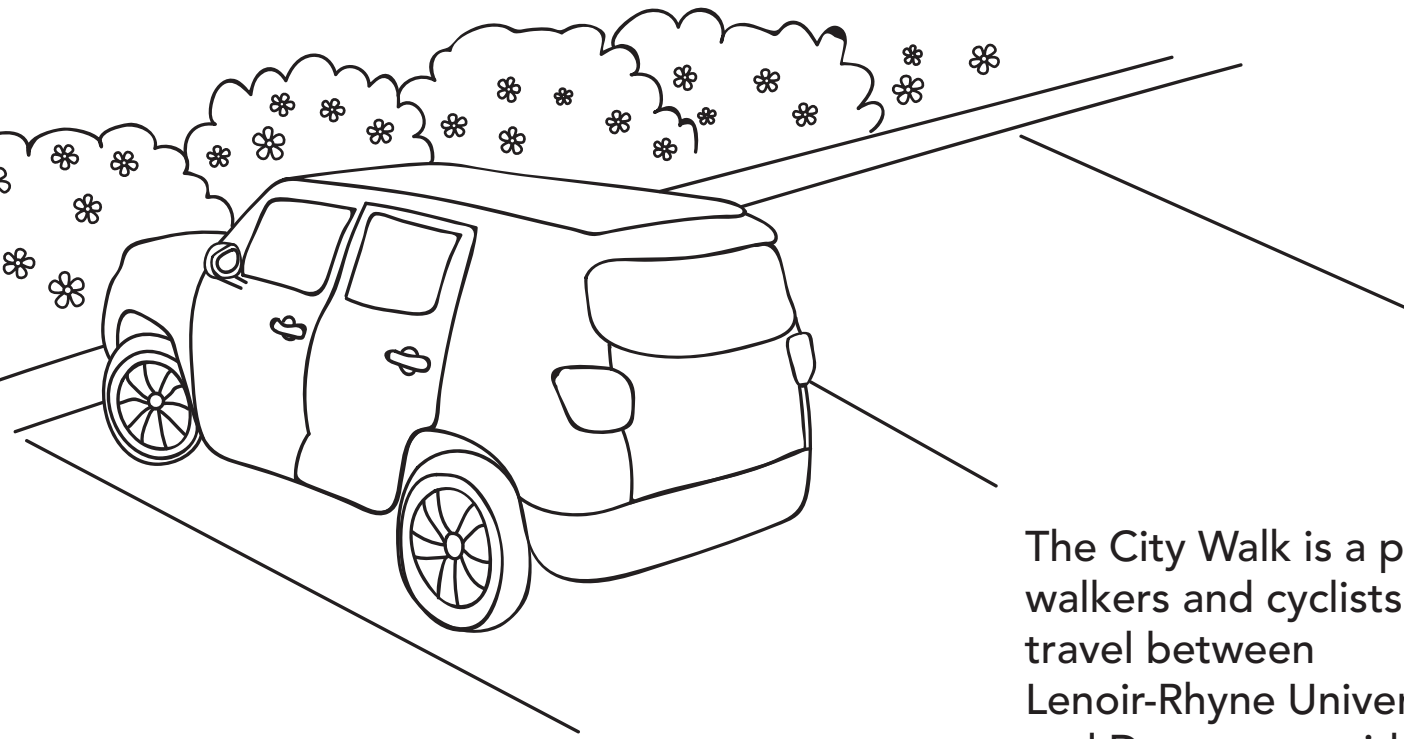

Coloring Book

Joey's Day at the City Walk

www.CraftingHickory.com

Illustrated by Linda Chang

The City Walk is a path for walkers and cyclists to travel between Lenoir-Rhyne University and Downtown without having to drive a car. There are also businesses, shops, and restaurants for people to stop and enjoy during their walk.

Hey son, let's take a walk on the new City Walk.

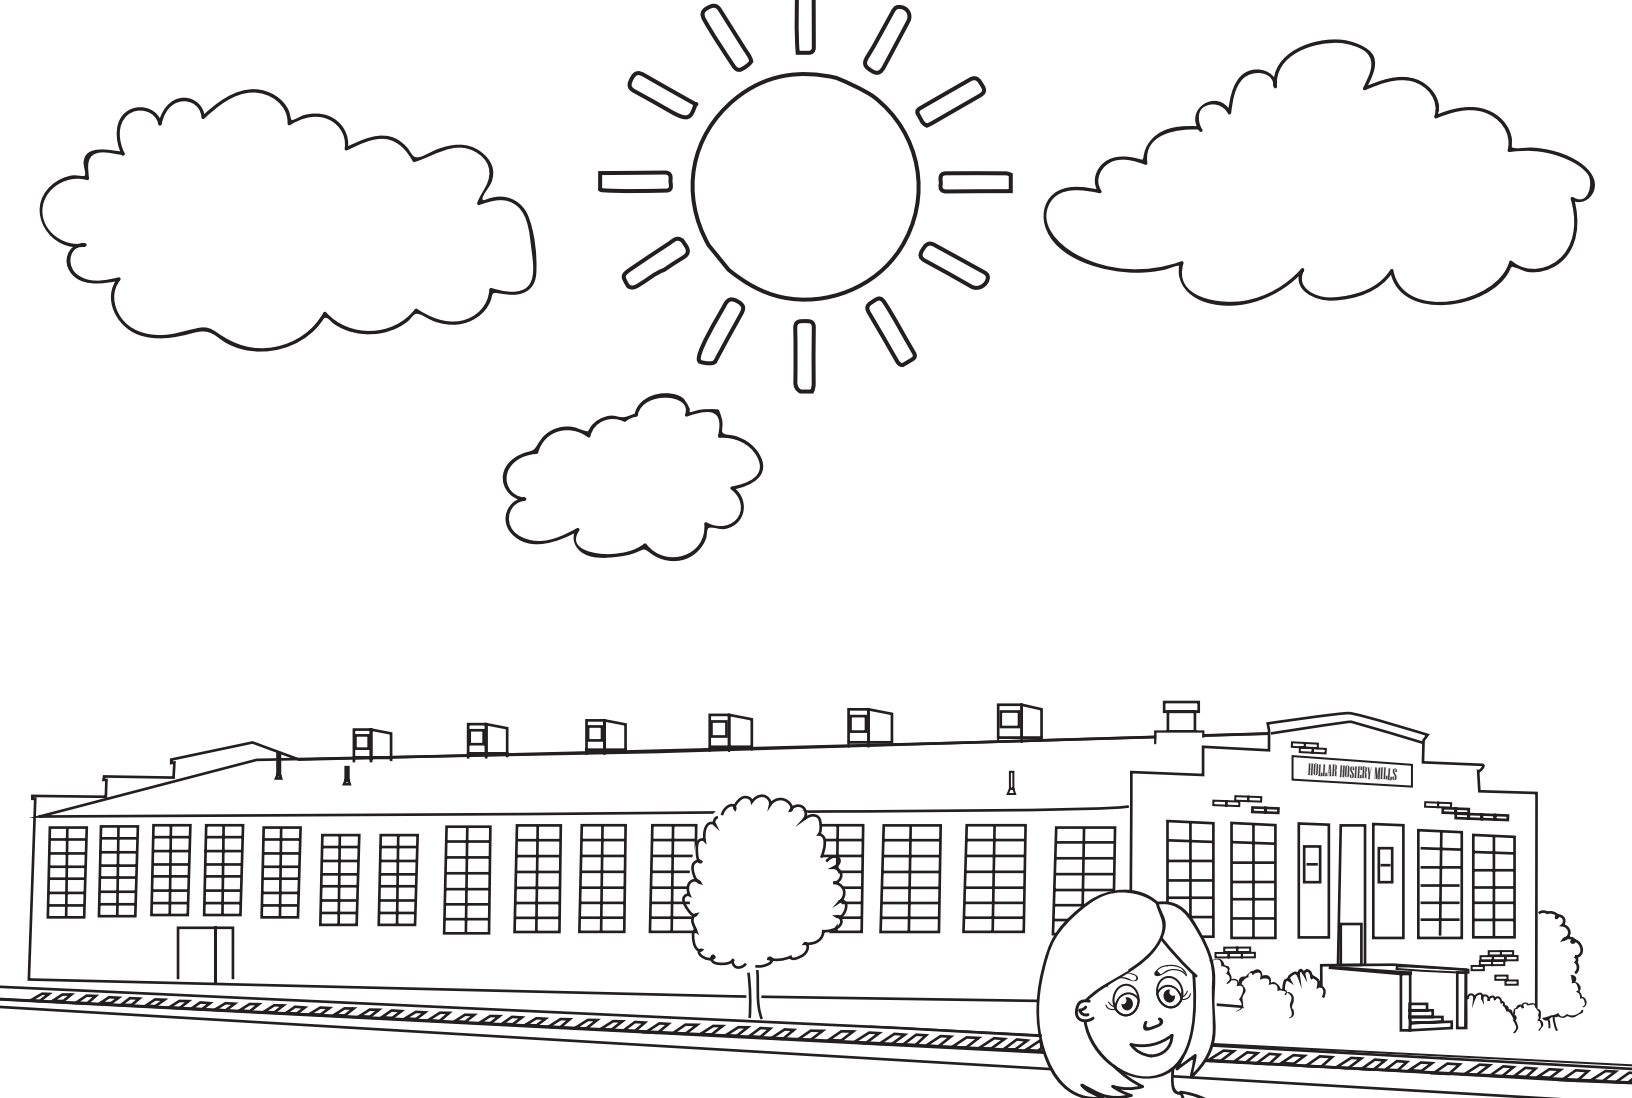

What's the City Walk?

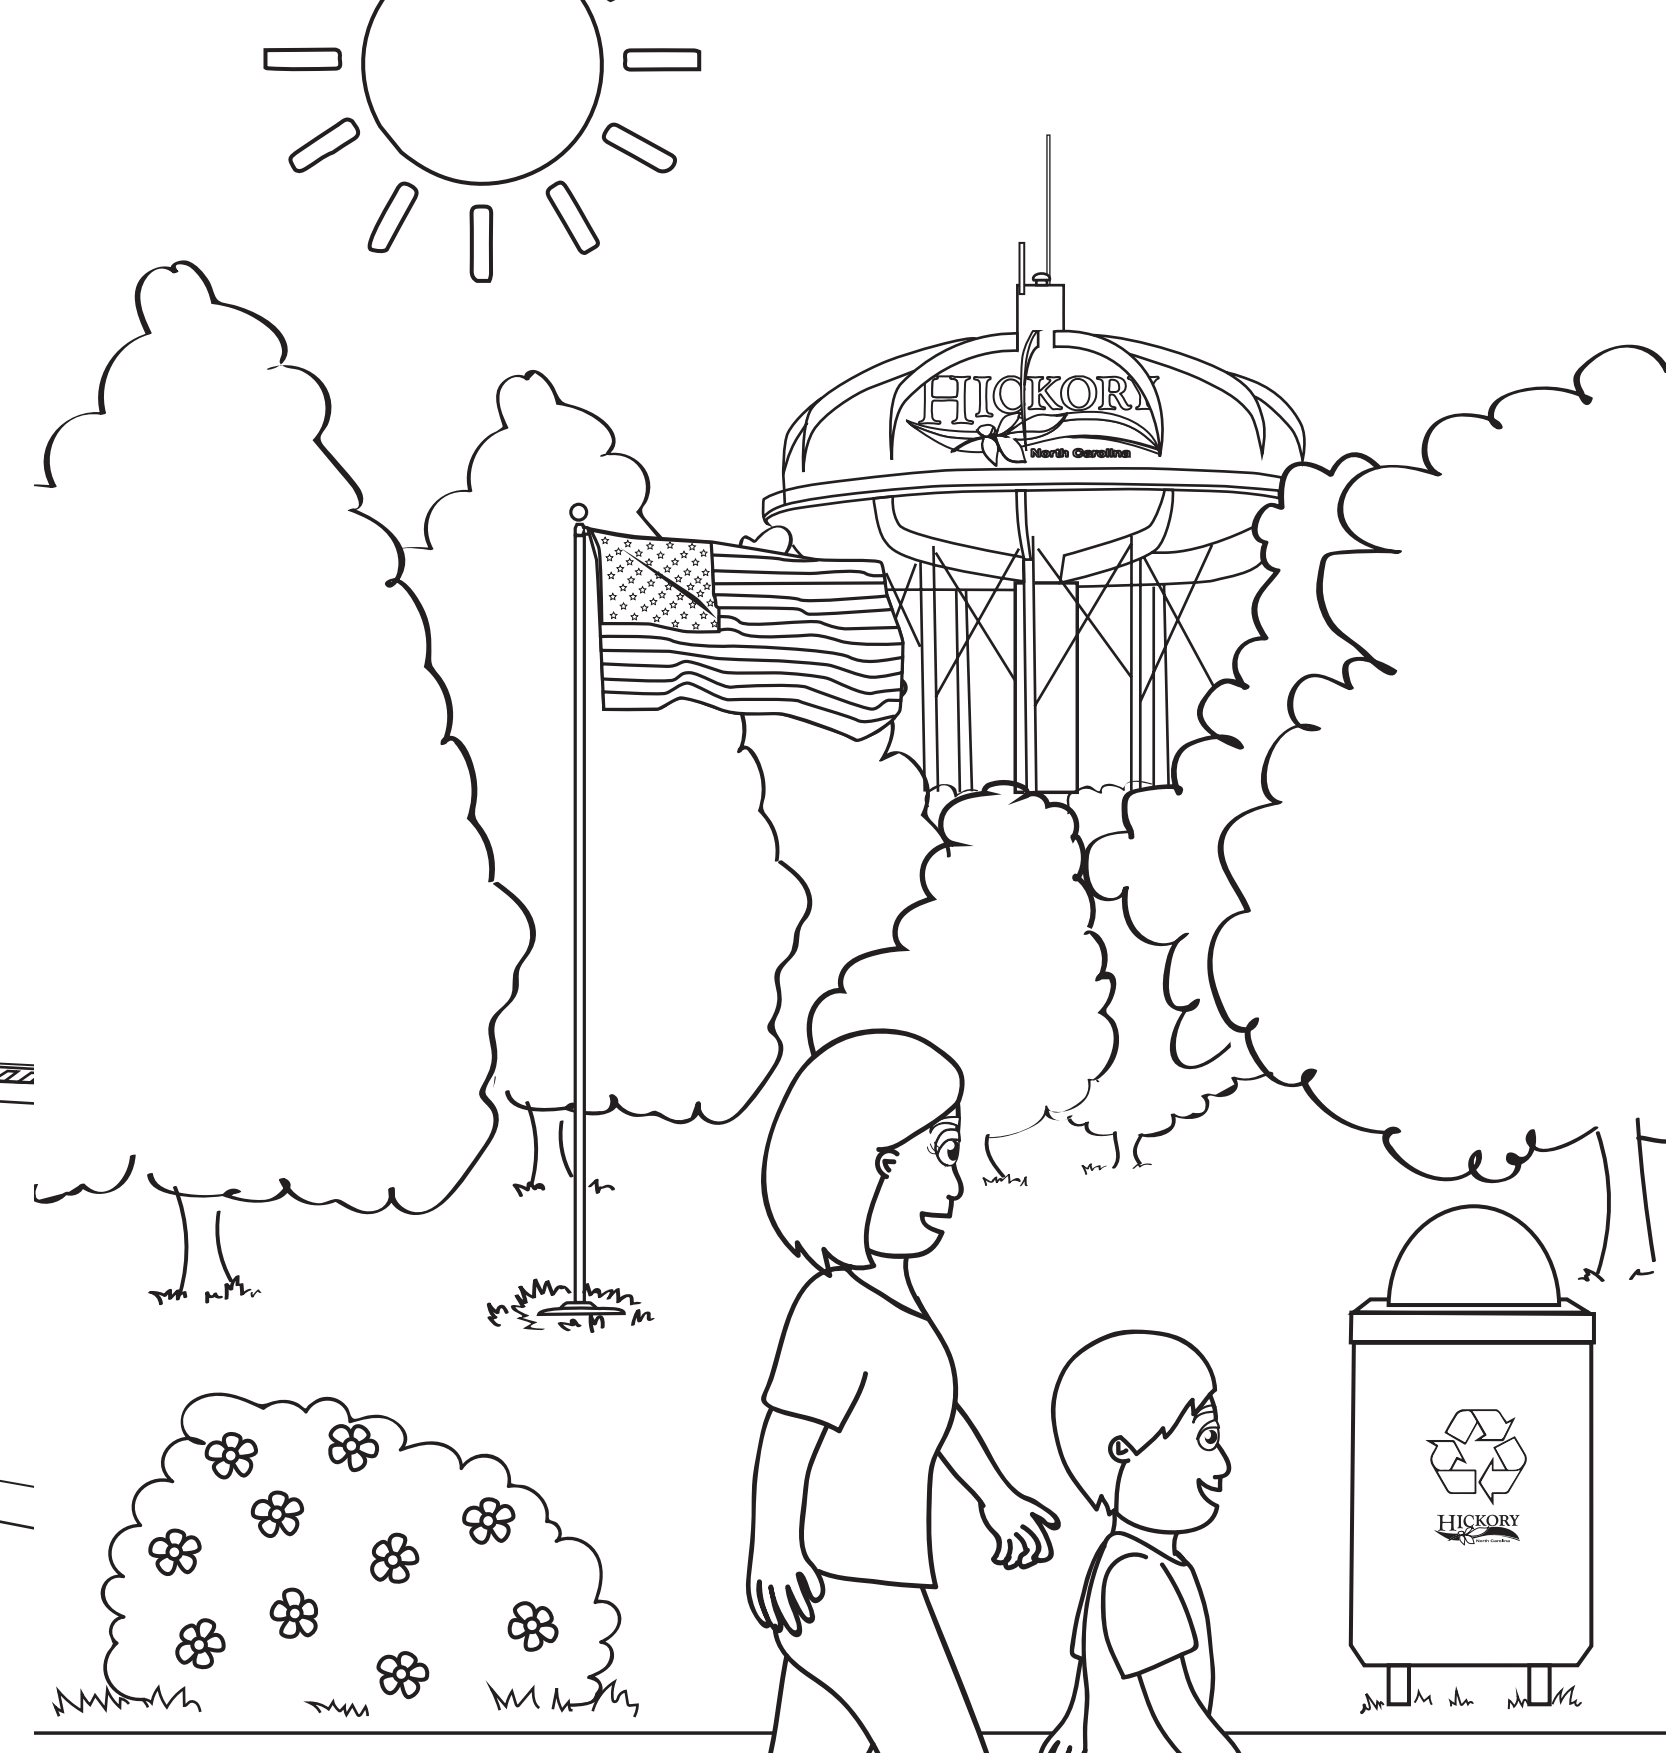

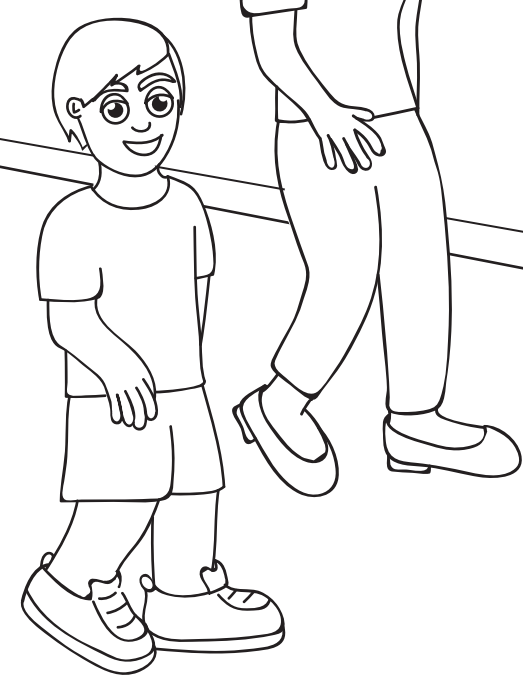

Mom, isn't that where you went to school?

Yes, Joey. I learned a lot there. It's a great school. I've thought about going back. They have over 100 degree programs.

That's so cool, mom.

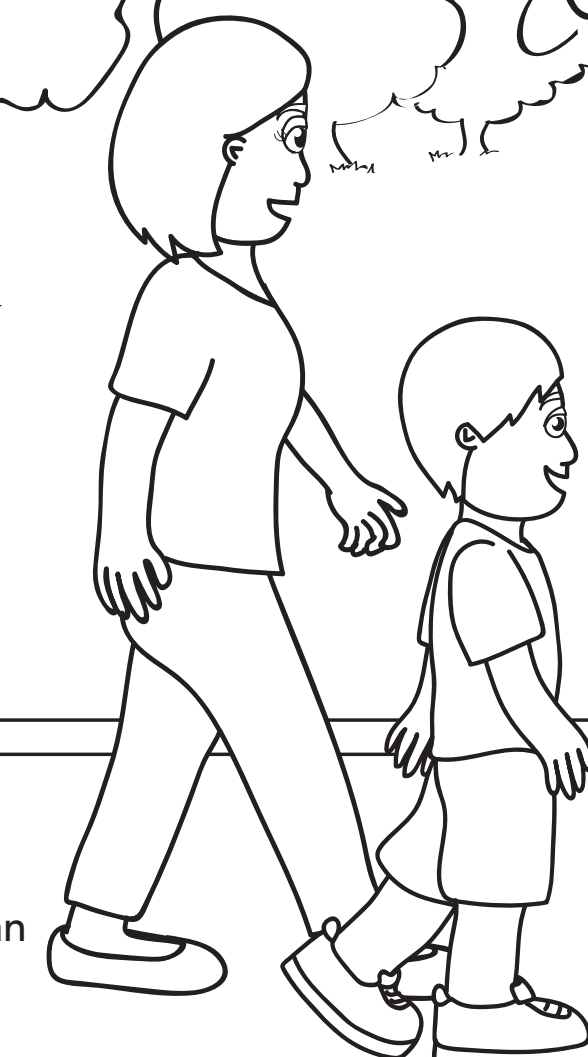

This cool building has been renovated, which is when something new is made from something old. I remember when that building used to be a hoisery mill. Now it's a fun and beautiful place to spend time with our friends and family!

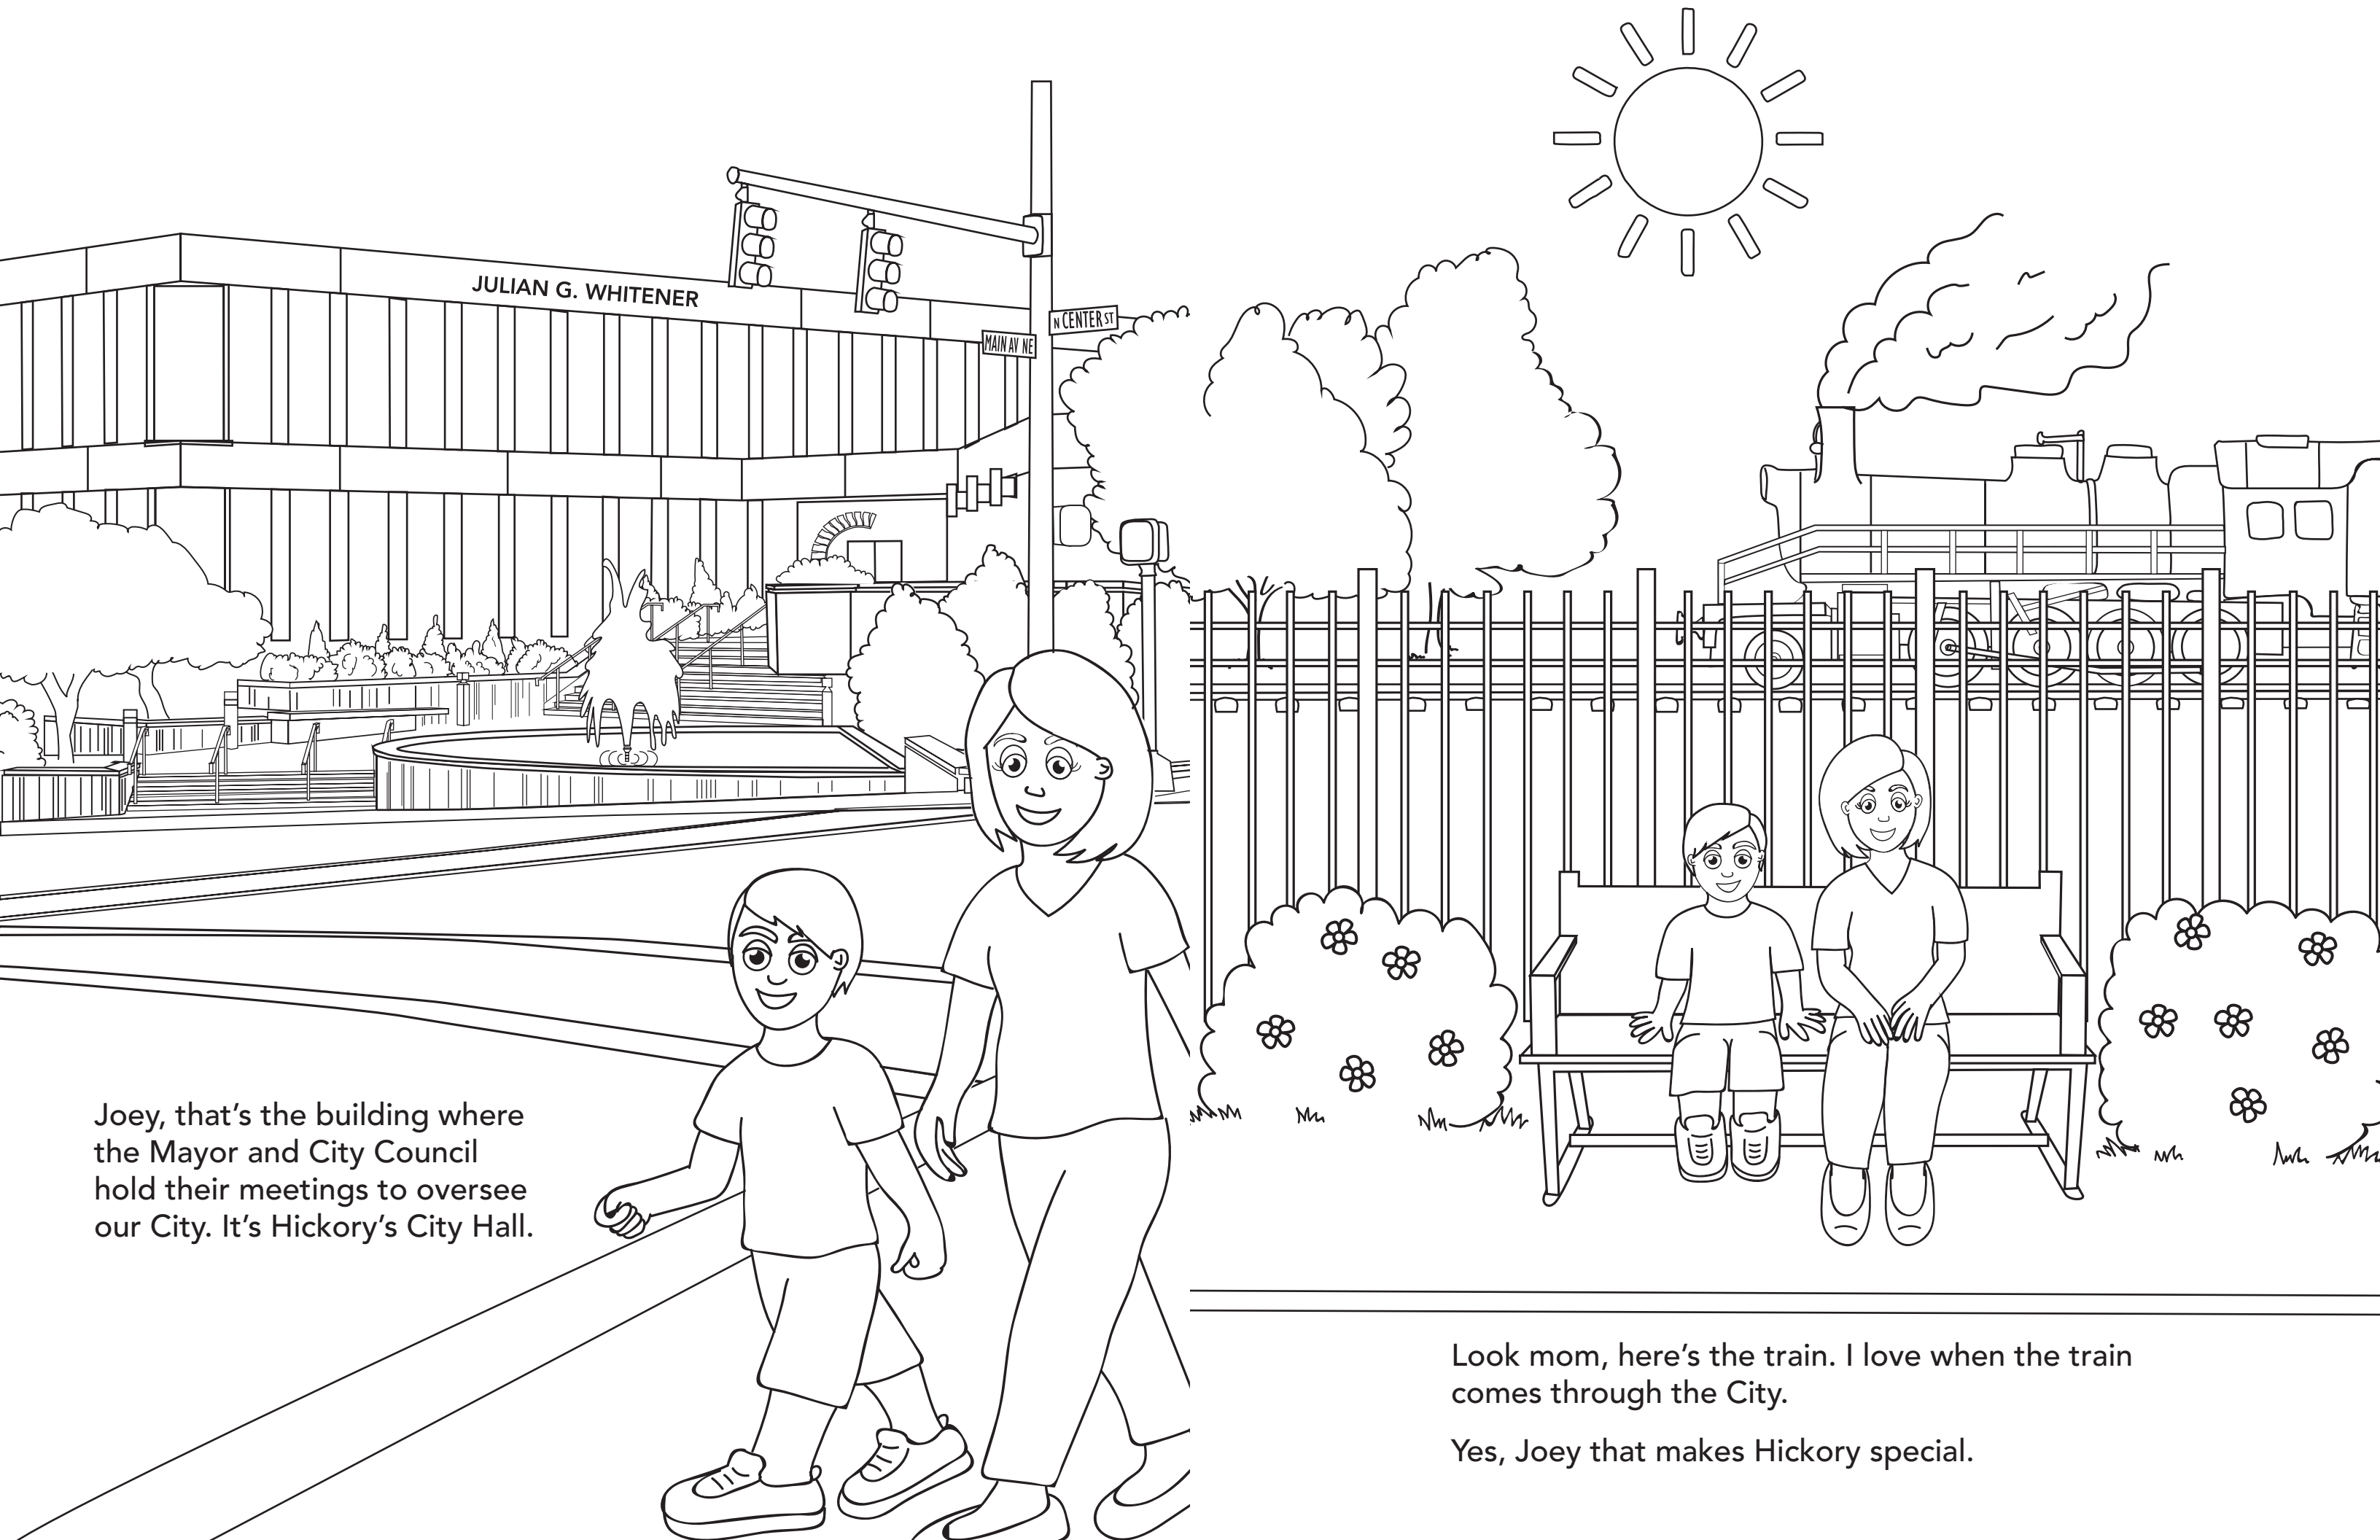

What's that, mom?

That's the City's water tower and where the clean water we drink is stored.

Look, there's a Hickory firefighter.

Joey, that's the building where the Mayor and City Council hold their meetings to oversee our City. It's Hickory's City Hall.

Look mom, here's the train. I love when the train comes through the City.

Yes, Joey that makes Hickory special.

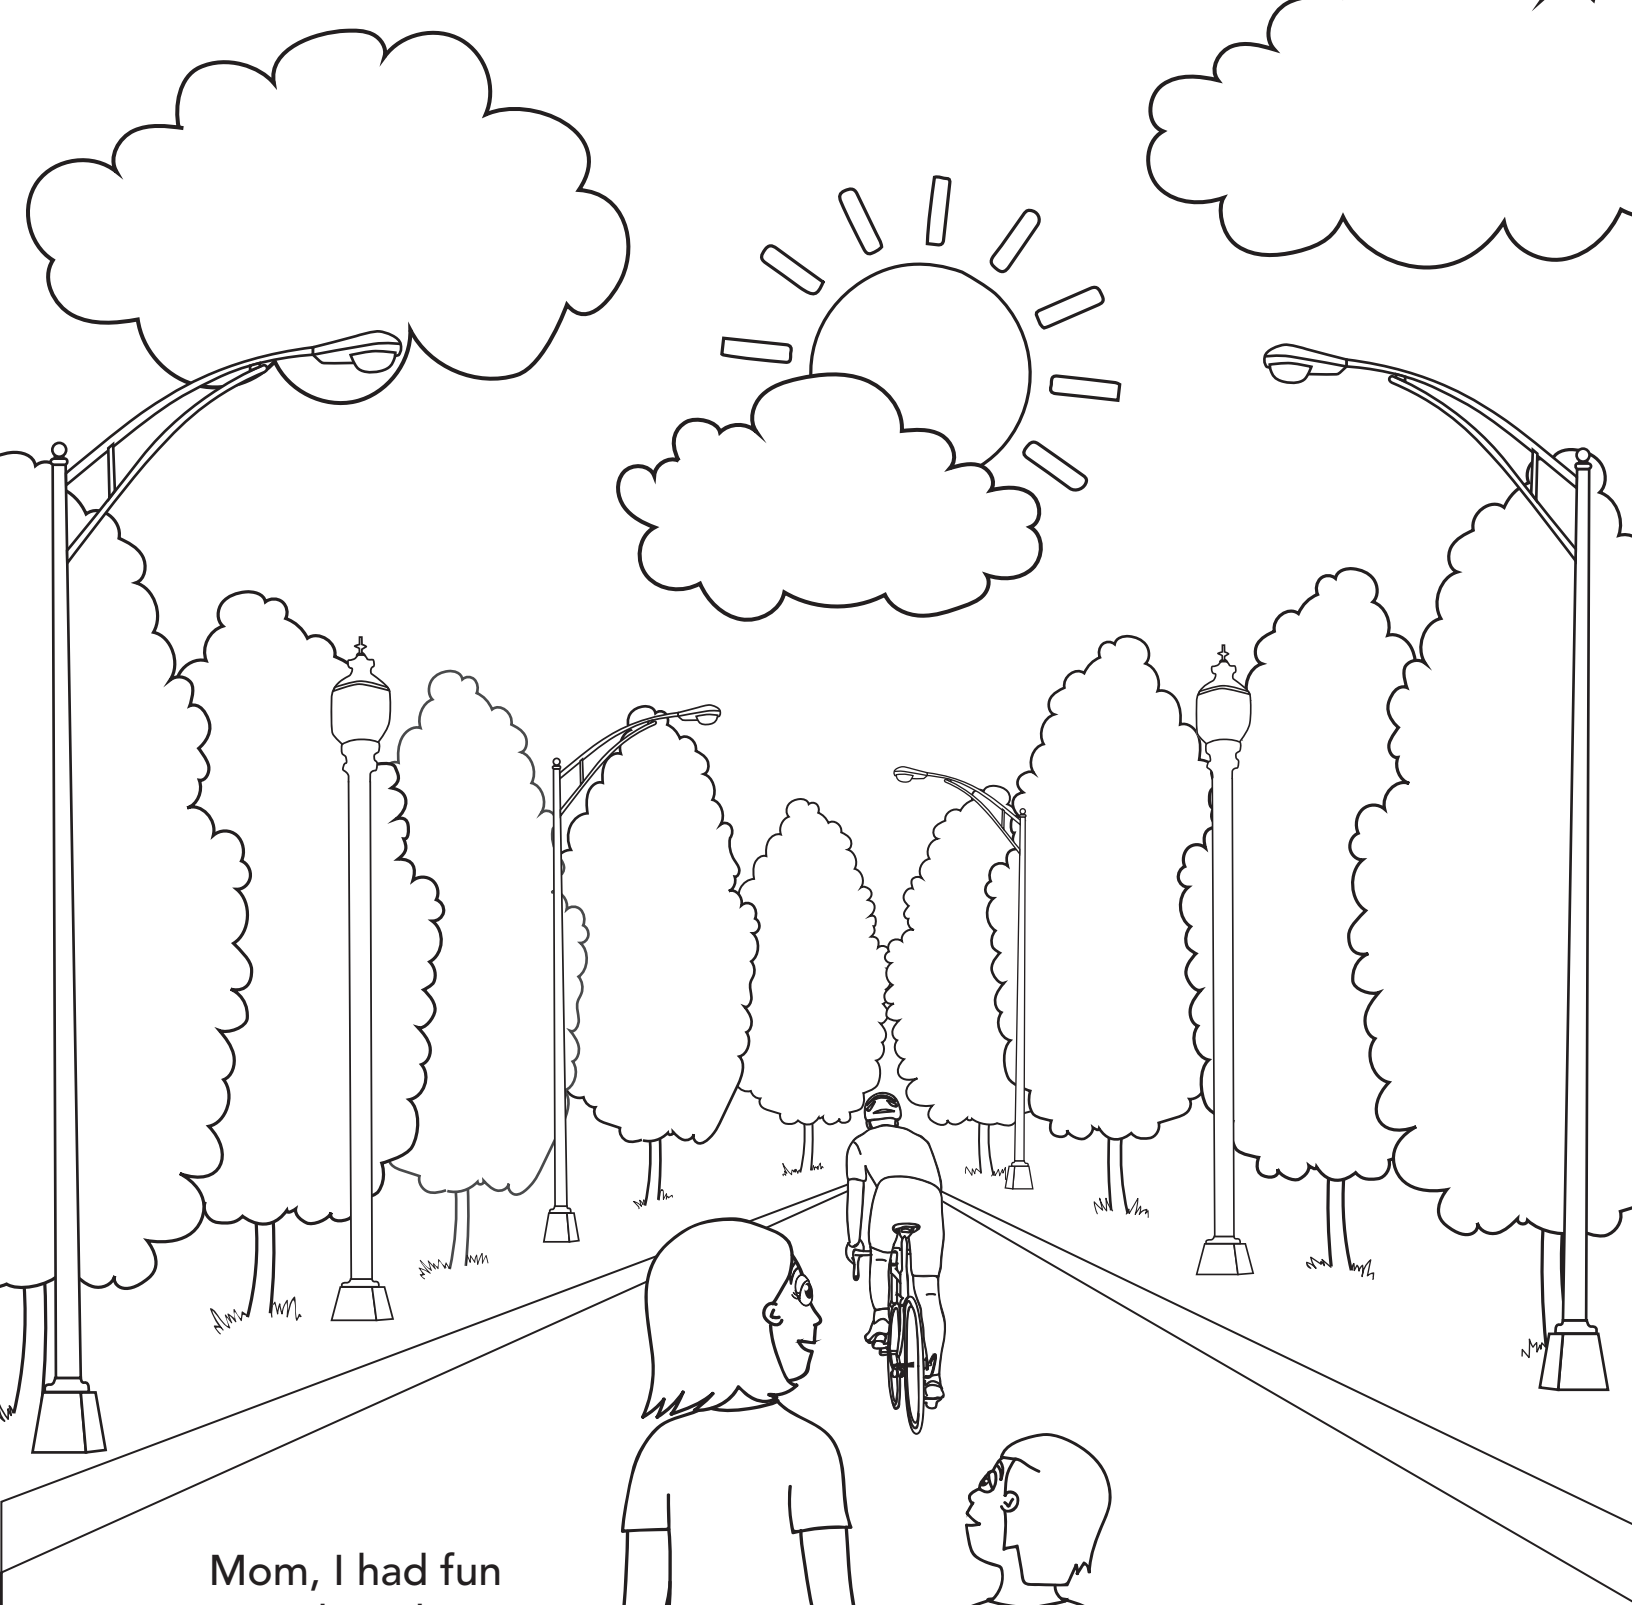

Mom, this is where we came and listened to music, and where we got strawberries.

Yes, this is also where I came to get grandma's birthday present.

A group of people in Hickory got together to build this park.

I love this playground, mom. Can we go play there right now?

Sure, Joey, we have a few minutes.

Mom, I had fun spending the day with you.

I love spending time with you, too. I'm glad the City Walk is here for us to enjoy.

HICKORY

North Carolina

Life. Well Crafted.